Sales Force

Our team is made up of seasoned and proven representatives who have provided constancy over many years of service at PRD.

You will be assigned an expert according to your location within a specific assigned territory. They will visit you according to your requirements, always available when you need them.

Your designated representative is able to offer assistance, give you product advice, propose inventory-related solutions and closely manage your inventory. You will also be able to appreciate their reliability, professionalism and expertise.

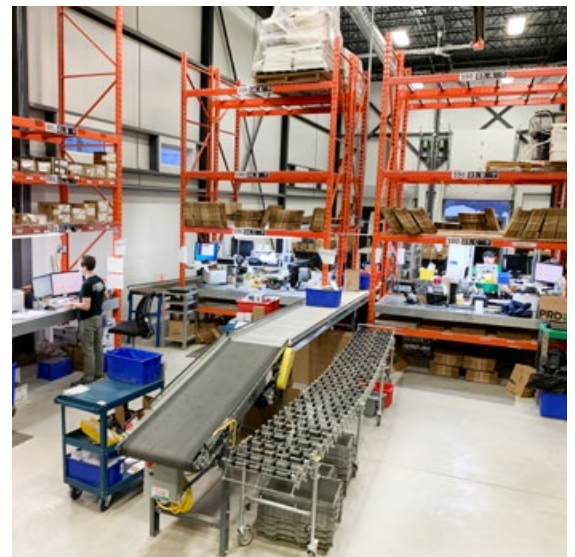

Customer Service

Our sales and customer service consultants are specialists in MRO and industrial supplies. They know our products and are there to listen to you and assess your specific needs.

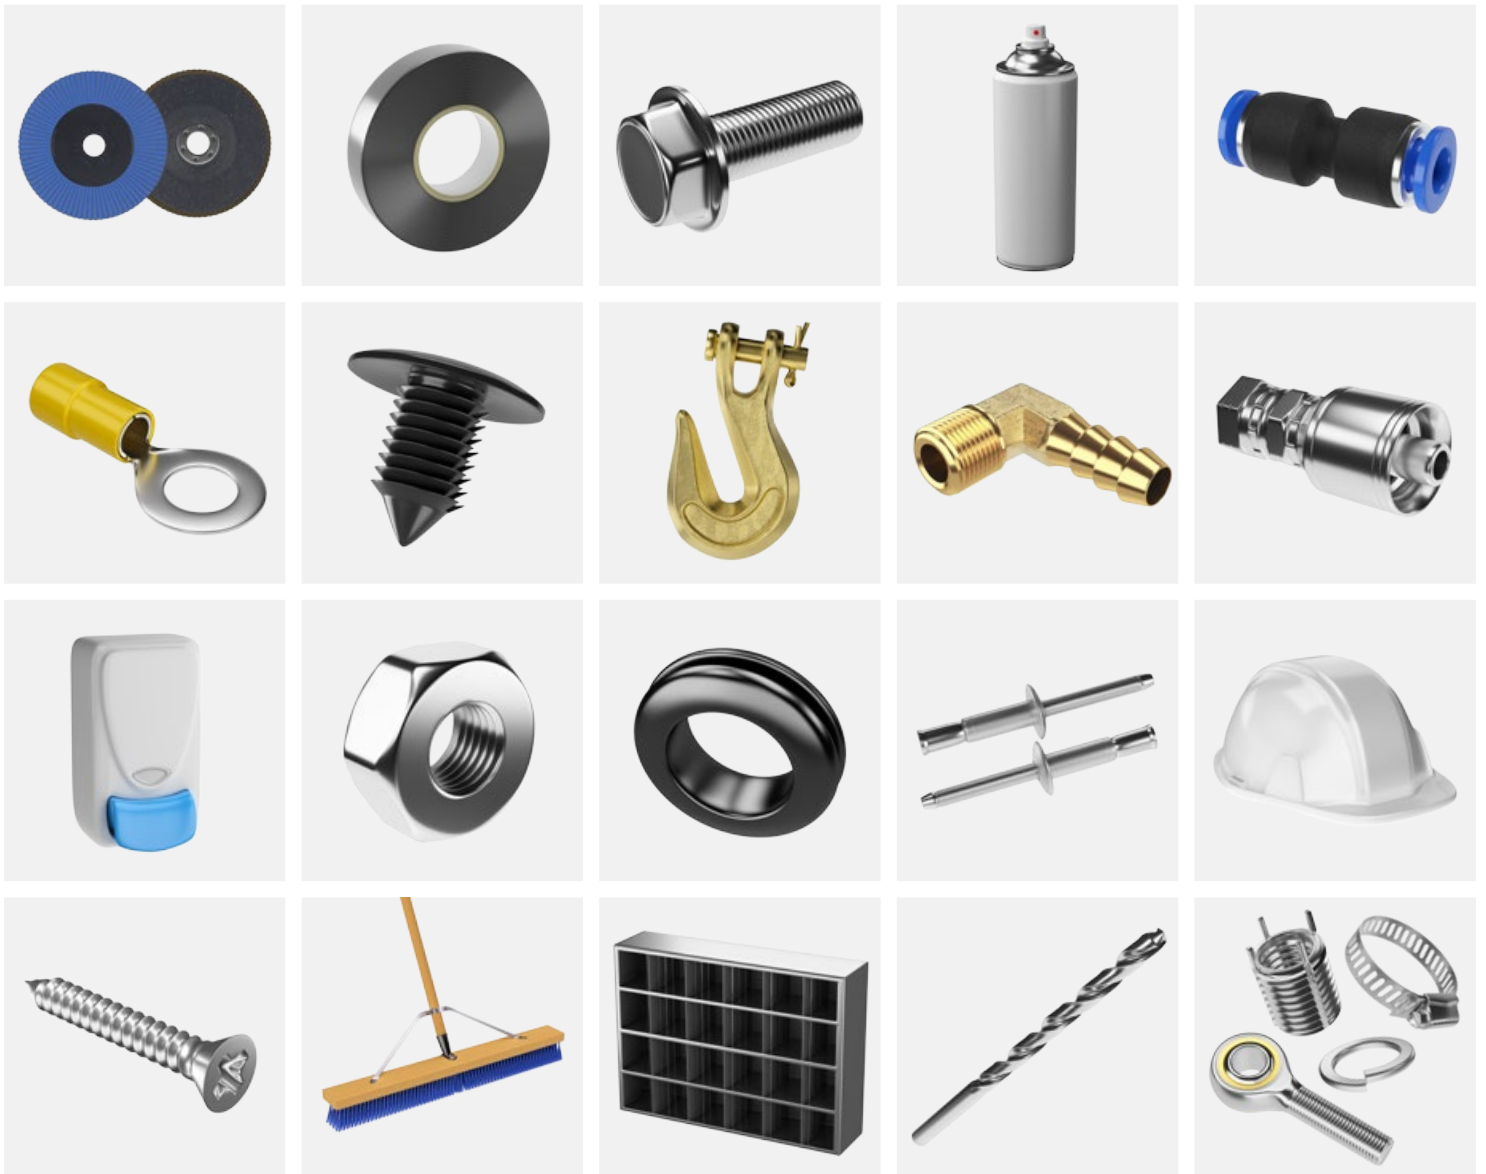

We care about the success of your business, which is why we provide every one of our customers with personalized support.

Do not hesitate to contact us for information on our various products, programs and services. We are available Monday to Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Vast Inventory of MRO and Industrial Supplies

With over 500,000 products available and an inventory of 80,000 products ready to ship, we've got you covered. This includes many product lines, such as abrasives, adhesives, chemicals, electrical products, fasteners, shop supplies, cutting tools, rivets and health and safety equipment.

Umbrella brand

Product brands

We offer private product lines and major brand names that have earned our clients' trust.

These products are designed and certified according to current standards, thus guaranteeing their performance and reliability.

One-Stop Shop

We offer you to make all of your industrial product purchases in one place. This “one-stop shop” experience allows you to assess your consumption and establish strategies to minimize your expenses.

Our services will allow you to simplify your supply procedure and realize soft cost savings by reducing the number of P.O. on products that you order.

These savings can be as much as $75 an invoice. You will save time by consolidating all of your orders onto a single invoice and will no longer have to search supplier after supplier to find the products that you need.

PROSYS™ Inventory Management System

Our inventory management system lowers your capital costs by reducing your stock of unused materials.

It is a complete storage and inventory retrieval system that helps increase your operations' efficiency by reducing downtime and increasing the traceability of your stock.

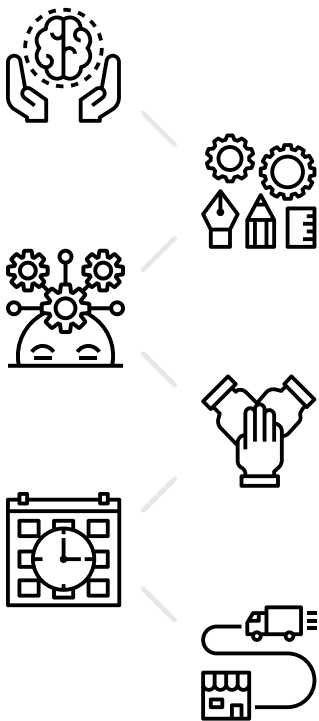

Our priority is to ensure your business success.

This is why we optimize your operations as a whole, including inventory management, product standardization, consumption and supply.

PROSYS™ inventory management system allows for substantial savings.

Our representative's full and personalized support includes assessing the products that you need while determining the available space, designing and installing your new storage units with a customized layout plan, managing of your current stock, as well as following up to ensure you are completely satisfied.

HOW IT WORKS

The installation takes shape in a few steps:

1. Identification and evaluation of your specific needs.
2. Design of a customized layout plan according to established stock management solutions.
3. Selection of the type of installation.
4. Reaching an agreement corresponding to your specific criteria and needs.
5. Planning the installation.
6. Execution and installation by our experts.

Following the installation, we will manage your inventory according to the agreement in place and follow-up with your team to ensure your satisfaction.

ASF™ Preassembled Product Kit Assortments

Our ASF™ Product Kits are an array of selected products which meet your various daily needs.

We offer a diverse selection of fully assembled product kits. Our ASF™ kits come in many forms, such as bins, cabinets, compartment boxes, or individual packages.

PR Distribution offers you supply solutions using kits that are optimally organized and logically identified.

The ASF™ Product Kits include a selection of products in different sizes according to your needs allowing you to optimize your workspace and avoid cluttering it up with unused products.

As the kits contain commonly used products along with some less common but essential products, they are indispensable for avoiding emergencies and unnecessary expenses. PRD's ASF™ Product Kits simply allow for great autonomy.

THE PRD DIFFERENCE

- The ASF™ bins are equipped with a Min/Max Stock Management System and detailed product labelling system providing a complete and easy-to-read view.
- Available in a variety of formats, the bins are configured according to the product to be stored, and can be secured with a bolt and padlock.
- Our storage drawers are made of robust steel resistant to rust and chemicals, built in the USA from Canadian and American metals.
- Our ASF™ are locally assembled from A to Z by our warehouse team. The kits contain essential products, as well as rarer products to avoid emergencies. The quantities for each part are adjusted accordingly.
- We have kits made up of electrical products, fasteners, nylon ties, resin fibre discs, fittings and so much more.
